

LOS ANGELES CONFIDENTIAL™

A full-page photograph of Selma Blair sitting on a bed with white linens. She is wearing a vibrant red, sleeveless, pleated dress and has long, dark, wavy hair with bangs. She is looking directly at the camera with a slight smile.

Selma Blair

LIGHTS OUR FIRE

GET MOVING!
THE REAL DEAL WITH
LA REAL ESTATE

POWER UP WITH THE
WILLIAM MORRIS AGENCY

LOVE THE NIGHTLIFE
HARRY MORTON REVIVES
THE VIPER ROOM

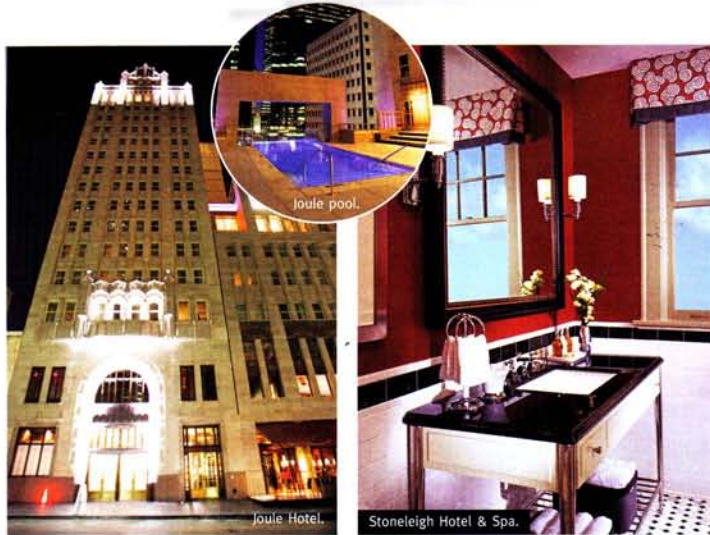

STARRY NIGHTS WITH

David Arquette, Alexie Gilmore,
Susie Castillo, Luke Goss, Nigel Lythgoe,
Chris O'Donnell & Sir Ben Kingsley

Too Cool for the Pool

Sun-worshipping sybarite and style-setter Jason Oliver Nixon suggests ways to add a little class to your lounge act with these summer essentials.

LONE STAR LONGING

This summer, you'll find us in Dallas. Er, Dallas? As in Texas? Yes, the home of Miss Ellie and J.R. is beckoning us with its siren call. We plan to shack up at the historically rich, just-revamped Stoneleigh Hotel & Spa in the Uptown neighborhood, with its gorgeous public spaces and posh-packed penthouse designed by our great pal Carleton Varney of Dorothy Draper Inc. Stoneleigh Hotel & Spa, 2927 Maple Avenue, Dallas, Texas, 214-871-7111. We are also mad for the Adam D. Tihany-designed Joule Hotel next door to the Neiman Marcus flagship, with its incredible 10th-floor pool jutting out over the edge of the building. Wow, divine! Joule Hotel, 1530 Main Street, Dallas, Texas, 214-748-1300. And we will be eating at Dallas's Screen Door, the deliciously designed and brand-new temple to refined Southern cooking from restaurateur Scott Jones. In this very chic setting, chef Fitzgerald Dodd has crafted a menu that features such standouts as meat loaf studded with foie gras, and pheasant and dumplings rich with pearl onions and morel mushrooms. And, of course, we will be drinking plenty of Screen Door's signature mint juleps. Slurp! Screen Door, One Arts Plaza, 1722 Routh Street, Dallas, Texas, 214-720-9111.